

Council Asks Board Of Health Review Decision On Nurse

Public Duty To Look Into Sight And Hearing
Of School Children, Declares Mayor Dales

After hearing resolutions passed by town organizations, and a discussion of the subject, the Newmarket town council Monday evening made a request that the board of health reconsider its recommendation that the town not engage a public health nurse until after taking a vote of the citizens on the question.

Mayor Dr. L. W. Dales urged the council to take action in the matter.

The council heard letters from the Lions club, the Women's Institute, the Catholic Women's League and from the Home and School Association.

Mrs. W. H. Bell on behalf of the Home and School Association, wrote that the council had "in the past administered the affairs of this town in a most able manner, and on matters of public welfare have given most intelligent service. The people have every confidence in the council's ability to continue to decide these matters without causing the expense of a plebiscite."

Mrs. Bell enclosed a letter from Edna L. Moore, chief health nurse of the province of Ontario, telling of the service which nurse would render in reducing the maternal death rate, the infant death rate, assisting with immunization against smallpox, diphtheria, whooping cough, scarlet fever and tetanus, control of tuberculosis, nutrition and health education, working both in the schools and in the homes.

Councillor A. D. Evans said that there was a better program laid out for a public health nurse than there was when Newmarket had a nurse before.

"You will find the same resentment on the part of the public today about interference in their affairs by a public health nurse," said Councillor A. V. Higginson. "I hear it in the factory."

"We do not lay enough emphasis on public health," said Dr. Dales. "The government has to step in and make us do so many things or we wouldn't do them. There are so many things a nurse could do. I think that it is our duty to see that children can hear and see properly. A public health nurse would save this town a lot of money."

"We are entitled to more information about costs," said Councillor A. D. Evans.

"Well, shall we ask the Home and School Association for more information?" said Dr. Dales.

"I think that it is a matter for the board of health," said Councillor Frank Bowser. "I am in favor of a health nurse but the M.O.H. says a health nurse isn't necessary."

"Oh, no," said Dr. Dales. "He is in favor of one but he says to put it to the people in a plebiscite."

Mr. Evans thought the council should have more information to be able to answer questions about the health nurse.

"We want to be shown," said Deputy-Reeve Joseph Vale.

"The Home and School Association should educate the public and make the public in favor of it," said Reeve F. A. Lundy. "It's no use doing anything about it until the public's ready for it."

Mr. Bowser and Mr. Vale thought the matter should be handled by the board of health.

PART I

"Because of continued developments in the war zone, our hopes for a complete victory, together with a just and lasting peace, seem deferred to a future more distant than we had anticipated. Indeed the danger is coming nearer home, and is threatening more ominously every day. TOWN BOYS HONORED AT PICKERING DINNER

Pickering College officially closed its school year last Thursday evening with their annual athletic dinner. Several prominent persons in the field of physical education and sports were guests.

"When the men arrive at the camp from every part of the province, they appear before the medical board for examination and afterwards are sent on for x-ray examination. The officer informed me that 25 percent of the 350 men had fallen down at the medical examination. Then a certain percentage would fall down in the x-ray at the hospital, besides a large number who were given a very low rating at the first local examination at home, so low, in fact, that they would never be called up. That between 25 and 50 percent of our young men are unfit for military service is hard to believe, yet these are the facts."

"Athletic color awards were made to the students who had been outstanding during the year as follows: first colors, F. C. Brandt; P. D. Cody, Newmarket; J. E. Cooper, W. H. Cornell, G. L. Davis, Newmarket; R. C. Detwiler, D. C. Dewar, N. Dutton, J. E. Frost, S. Grant, D. Partridge, D. K. Sherry, M. Gill; second colors, C. F. Carter, D. Cottrell, W. C. Couto, R. G. Findlay, H. L. Hanratty, Chas. Harvey, Claude Harvey, D. U. Kilgour, W. Maresch, M. V. Marx, R. D. Moffat, G. E. Proctor, T. M. Russell, J. E. Wilson; third colors, B. G. Bird, A. L. Brown, R. K. Cooper, J. R. DeLaury, L. B. DeMille, B. H. Foster, W. L. Harris, R. A. Hyman, D. Kent, V. S. Koby, A. Kondrus, I. MacFarlane, E. Richardson, S. E. Sansom.

The Garrett cane was presented during the evening. This award is made by the students to the member of the graduating class who, in their opinion, has been the most outstanding of their fellows. This year, for the third year in a row, the students' choice was dual. Don. Dewar of Toronto and Dan. Sherry of Asbestos, Que., were the recipients.

"Consequently, dearly beloved in Christ, we were not surprised but sincerely and deeply elated at seeing you, from the very beginning of the conflict, generously respond to the call of your country. Truly a glorious page in our history will recall the devotion, courage and heroism aroused in our people by this present war."

"One has only to study the anti-Christian doctrines and principles of Nazism, in the light of the encyclical 'Mit brennender Sorge' of Pope Pius XI, and of the statements of the German hierarchy, and of the record of oppression and destruction in every country which has come under the yoke of Nazism, to realize the extremities of barbarism, persecution and irreligion, to which it would reduce all nations in the world conquest of which it dreams and towards which it strives."

"Dear beloved in Christ, you have taken your place side by side with your fellow-citizens of every class and creed in this ready and generous response. And in order to express our satisfaction, we are glad to borrow the very words which His Holiness Pope Pius XI addressed to the world on June 29th last: 'We like, you feel our heart grow faint at the thought of the tempest of evil, that now rages over the world. However, there are not lacking in the darkness of the storm, comforting thoughts which dilate our heart with holy and great expectation; generous courage in defense of the fundamentals of Christian civilization, and confident hope in their triumph; the strongest love for fatherland, the most heroic acts of virtue, chosen souls ready for every sacrifice, and widespread reawakening of faith and piety, not to lacking.' COUNCIL FACES PROBLEMS

It is national economic policy that as many non-essential expenditures as possible be avoided for the duration of the war. This applies to personal expenditures for clothing as well as to public undertakings. The individual must judge whether his contemplated purchase is a "must." The public body must judge whether its contemplated undertaking is a "must." It is not inconsistent that at the same time it is a part of national policy to increase expenditures on health. Curtailing non-essential expenditures and increasing health expenditures are both designed to promote the war effort.

The town council discussed on Monday evening two proposals in terms of the war effort. These were, first, the much needed clerk's office, and, second, the much asked for public health nurse. For years we have advocated a public health nurse, but we do not regard a nurse as any more, or even as much, needed as during the depression with its under-nourishment and poor health. We do think, however, that there is a much better chance of getting a nurse at the present time. The high percentage of army rejections, first-aid and public health courses, the widespread emphasis on citizen health as a contribution to the war effort, the over-working of doctors, an increase in citizen income, all make the present an opportune time to go ahead with the public health nurse project. The nurse will earn her salary many times over in savings to the municipality, saved sickness time to breadwinners and employers, saved school days to children, worry avoided by parents, medical and hospital accounts avoided.

We see no good reason for lumping together the public health nurse and the clerk's office and saying that if we have one we must have the other or if we have one we can't have the other. Each proposal should be judged on its merits. Each should be subjected to the questions: Will it be a good investment? Will it interfere with or contribute to the war effort?

There is going to be no public demand for a new clerk's office. That is rightly regarded as a town council responsibility. The council seems to be unanimous that the present office is inadequate. The present office has served this long only because the clerk is a part-time official and has transacted town business in his own office. He contends, and the water and light committee members seem to agree with him, that the office is not even adequate for efficient work on the part of the assistant clerk and the occasional clerical help which she from time to time requires. Another point is that the war brought the military camp to Newmarket and the camp brought extra work to the clerk's office.

Major Dales thinks that he may be able to find a temporary solution of the clerk's office problem. If he can't, then it would seem reasonable that the council should submit its problem to the construction controller, as suggested by the clerk, Mr. Mathews, and accept his ruling on whether or not it would be desirable, from an Ottawa angle, to build a new office at the present time.

There will not be any widespread agreement with Reeve Lundy that it is up to the Home and School Association to continue to educate the public as to the necessity for a public health nurse, and that the council should not act until the public demand for a health nurse is universal. If the council were not to spend any money until every citizen had demanded it, we would not make much progress.

If the council believed in that policy it would not have voted itself remuneration this year. If the council believed in that policy it would never get a new clerk's office, either now or within the next 20 years. Generally speaking, the taxpayers are opposed to any expenditures unless the council decide that they are necessary. The taxpayers rely on the council to use its judgment and to make these decisions. The taxpayers will not approve expenditures which the council does not approve and advocate.

For instance, the council might seek this fall an expression of public opinion on the three questions: (1) Do you favor employment of a public health nurse at a cost of $1,500 a year? (2) Do you favor building a new clerk's office at $315 a year? (3) Do you favor remunerating the town council at a cost of $1,300 a year? What would be the result? Probably three No's. The first proposal would have the best chance of carrying. The second, we think, would have a better chance than the third.

The alternative to seeking an expression of public opinion is to go ahead with (1) and (3) and give the public a chance to weigh the results. The council has taken this course with (3) and the public can show its disapproval at any future time if it is dissatisfied. The alternative with (2) is to consult the Ontario municipal board and the dominion construction controller.

When the councillors have to worry with problems like these it is not unfitting that they should be paid!

EQUALITY OF SACRIFICE

It is said to be demagoguery to talk of "conscription of wealth." The fact remains that, however extreme, it is possible to make a levy on capital just as it is possible to make levies on income. There will be wide sympathy with the position of the Vancouver C.C.F. member of parliament, Angus MacInnis, moving an amendment to "Bill No. 80," that if there is to be conscription of manpower for overseas military service there should also be conscription of manpower for home-front service and conscription of wealth. Prime Minister Mackenzie King has hinted on a couple of occasions that if he brings in overseas conscription he may bring in also some measure of conscription of wealth.

WHAT OTHERS THINK

TREND OF THE TIMES

(Oshawa and Whitby Times-Gazette)

The amalgamation of Newmarket's two weekly newspapers, The Era and The Express-Herald, marks another step in the trend toward one-newspaper towns. It has been our privilege to see the most recent issue of The Newmarket Era and Express and we have been much impressed with its fine typography and bright, newsy pages. Congratulations are due Andrew O. Hebb, its publisher and editor, for the service he is giving the people of Newmarket and district.

At one time practically every Ontario town and village had two newspapers. Each staunchly upheld its favorite political party and its followers. Editors in those days cared little for libel laws and the things said about individuals would not be tolerated today. In most instances they were dependent upon the party "pork barrel" and as a result publishers were able to eke out a meager livelihood.

Today, country newspapers are taking a saner course. Endeavoring to remain independent, they strive to report all viewpoints without allegiance to any party, group or individual and hold themselves free to offer criticism within the bounds of fair comment.

We extend greetings to the newly amalgamated paper and best wishes for a long and useful career.

Newmarket Boys Meet While On Manoeuvres

Newmarket Veterans Association have received a letter dated April 26 from Cpl. H. P. Myers.

"It is now over two years since I arrived in England with the forces," he writes. "During that time I have had the pleasure of seeing quite a lot of England.

"Yes, I daresay I have seen as much, if not more, than a lot of people who have lived here for years. It is indeed a very beautiful country, but still and all I like Canada the best.

"There are many grand old historical sights over here and no doubt we all ought to feel proud to be a part of the empire for which we are fighting a long and tedious battle in order that peace may rule among us all again.

"As I say, there really are many wonderful sights to see, but, gentlemen, there is not a bit of scenery, no matter how beautiful it may be, that looks as good as your parcels of smokes and other articles. So, at this instant, I want to thank you all from the bottom of my heart, for what you have been doing. You are not only helping the soldiers over here, but what is far more important, you are strengthening their morale to a very high degree.

"I say this because I, myself, even though I do get plenty of mail, know what it is like to go without smokes or even a letter from home.

"You would be very much surprised, indeed, if you could see the faces on the boys when some mail comes in, if they don't get any. They are very much disappointed, but when they do receive some, there is all the difference in the world towards life, especially the life we are leading at present. Much depression of the boys in the army is greatly relieved by just a card or letter from home and you'd be utterly surprised if you actually saw it.

"The veterans and the ladies' clubs, in Newmarket, do deserve a lot of credit, as well as the Lions, and I want to thank you one and all for your great effort.

"In the past two years I have seen a lot of air raids and some very bad ones at that.

"I remember very well the first air-raid I saw. Twelve planes dived down, bombing and machine gunning. My unit was stationed nearby in a huge field.

"Since I have been here I have had several leaves and I go up to the north-east coast of England to visit relatives and friends in my home-town. A lot of people know me, as well as my family, and I do enjoy myself very much. I am very lucky compared to some chaps.

"However, those that have no relatives are not sad. They enjoy themselves in the big cities and they can make friends very easily. Then again there are lots of clubs where they can stay and they often meet people through the ladies in the clubs.

"We all hope this war will be over before long. I know that I'm just longing to see good old Newmarket again. I imagine it is very different now, but I still think it's the 'biggest little town' in Ontario, honestly.

"I do hope you keep up your good work and once again I want to thank one and all of you who are helping by doing your bit for the boys. I'll say cheerio for now, folks.

"P.S.—I met Freddie Evans, Art Brymer and Walter Wrightman on a scheme. We had quite a chat about the town and I really did enjoy meeting them. Please tell their folks that I have met them, will you? Thanks a million."

There was quite a heavy frost in this district on Sunday night.

The Queen's York Rangers, in the command of Capt. Allan, paraded in town on Monday evening and left on Tuesday morning for camp at Niagara-on-the-Lake.

The fire and water committee is having a big line with the largest arctic wall. For about three weeks, off and on, it has been emitting sand, clay and gravel.

ARE A RECENT BRIDAL COUPLE

A pretty wedding of recent interest was that of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence St. John. Mrs. St. John was formerly Lillian A. Bennett, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. F. Bennett of Newmarket, and Mr. St. John is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. St. John of Aurora. Mr. and Mrs. St. John are residing in Aurora. Photo by Budd studio.

that act, which is known as Bill 80, is designed to remove all territorial limitations as to service and give the government full power to call men for service anywhere if, as, and when it wants to use that power. That, in a few words, is the purpose of the legislation about which we hear so much.

Canada seems to have been "caught napping" in the worldwide wartime propaganda race. In 1938, by international agreement, this country had reserved for it nine short-wave broadcasting channels or "bands." A parliamentary committee the next year urged that a high-powered short-wave system be constructed, as other nations were doing. Germany grabbed one of the "bands," and others have followed suit, until all the channels were used up and practically all the transmitters gone. It begins to appear that we had a march stolen on us, and that it may be too late now to redeem our position. If the government acts quickly, it may be able to yet arrange for one transmitter, but time is very precious. These facts have come out in evidence in the radio broadcasting committee.

Four members of the present house of commons, Henry R. Emerson, D. King Hazen, Hugues Lapointe, and Dr. C. J. Veniot, can boast that their fathers were cabinet ministers in former days. Hon. "Bill" Mulock from North York occupies the rare position of having a grandfather who occupied the cabinet of 1917.

portfolio he himself now holds. Several members can claim uncles and other relatives who sat as private members in former parliaments, while Harry Jackman, M.P. for Toronto-Rosedale, is the son-in-law of the late Hon. Newton Wesley Rowell, who was second in command to Sir Robert Borden in the union government of 1917.

The invasion of Ottawa by thousands of new government workers since the war began has severely taxed the city's housing facilities. Recently the attention of parliament was drawn to the unhealthy situation in this respect by Messrs. Hansel and Coldwell. It is well-nigh impossible to find a room in the capital city just now. Col. Art Ross, from Melita, Manitoba, and I have been sharing one room ever since the fall of 1940, and a good many members have the same trouble finding living quarters. During the debate on the topic of local housing conditions in the city, the government was urged by Mr. Hanson to erect a women's hostel to relieve crowding. Mr. Coldwell lashed out at the government over the statement of some official that building supplies for such projects could not be released because they were needed for war purposes. He pointed out that at the same time a permit had been given for the erection of a brewers' warehouse on Ottawa's Catherine St. The upshot of it all is that the government is going to review the situation seriously with the aid of a committee of civil servants.

To be called the "official back-scratcher of the government," fell to the lot of Ross MacDonald, M.P. for Brantford, during the parliamentary discussion on the price-ceiling policy. He had made a very eulogistic speech about Mr. Isley and was followed by Mr. Hanson. After a few good-natured exchanges between the two, the member for Brantford asked the opposition leader if he was trying to beat the long-distance record for speaking allegedly established by Jean Francois Pouliot. In reply, Mr. Hanson said "No, I am not, and I am not making any fulsome eulogy to constitute myself the official back-scratcher of the administration." There were plenty of windows in that debate. When Mr. Hanson called the price-ceiling subsidies a policy of "robbing Peter to pay Paul," Paul Martin, M.P. for Essex, shouted out "And Paul should be paid." There is little humor today in the commons contrasted to the days before the war. Members are not in that mood any more.

There is plenty of unofficial talk these days about the budget which will likely come down during the next two or three weeks. One thing is sure, there will be no easing up on taxation. The astronomical heights to which our war expenditure has soared will doubtless mean a heavier incidence of taxation spread over a wider field than ever. A delicate problem faces the minister of finance each year. He has to estimate in advance the increase in gross national income and tax accordingly, and he must also borrow sufficient to make up the balance. To know how far to tax and how much to borrow without upsetting the economic and business structure of the nation is no easy calculation. The more we pay now and the less we borrow, the lighter, naturally, will be our post-war burden. The budget will be awaited, as it always is, with keen interest and concern.

A resident of Newmarket for a number of years, John Edgar Neilly died at York county hospital on Tuesday as the result of a heart condition. He had been ill for three weeks. Mr. Neilly was in his 54th year.

The son of the late Hannah and John G. Neilly of Gilford, he was born at Mcfarland. He married Blanche Rogers.

Mr. Neilly was a member of the United church and an employee of the Office Specialty Co. He had been employed at the C.N.R. station here for ten years and for four years had been with the Fleury-Bissell firm in Aurora.

Surviving are his widow, one son, John Ronald Neilly of Newmarket; one daughter, Mrs. Wm. J. Watson (Muriel), of Aurora; one brother, Wilfred, of Gilford, and two sisters, Mrs. Frank Steele (Cassie), of Gilford, and Bertha Neilly, of Newmarket.

The funeral service, held this afternoon at the chapel of Roadside and Rose, was conducted by Dr. A. E. Runnels of Trinity United church. Pallbearers were Charles Casy, Frank Teasdale, Frank Williams, Edward Reddick, Sydney Simmons and Garfield Rogers. Interment was made at Coulson's Hill cemetery.

HEAR CONVENTION REPORT
AT W.C.T.U. MEETING

The June meeting of the W.C.T.U. was held at the home of Mrs. J. Phimister on June 9, with Mrs. Roy Meads acting as president.

Reports of the county convention were given by Miss Bertha Neilly and Miss L. Starr. The theme of the convention was "Through Toil to the Stars." They reported that Mrs. J. H. Fisher, in charge of the soldiers' and sailors' work for Toronto district, said, "There are more converts in the hospitals than in the churches." Rev. Gordon Domm of Bathurst St. United church, Toronto, spoke at the convention. He was reported as saying that "the liquor business is just as disgusting in 1942 as it was in 1914. Tea, coffee and sugar are rationed, but nothing is said about rationing beer or hard liquor."

The hostess served a lovely lunch and a social time was spent.

IT'S CHEAPER IN U.S.A.

Canadian beef is selling for ten cents less in the state of Washington than it is in Newmarket, J. H. May, Newmarket butcher, stated last week. Mr. May had some Washington state newspapers to support his statement.

Mr. May said that as a result of new regulations about killing cattle an independent butcher in Newmarket must, in practice, get his beef from one or other of two packers and just take what they give him.

The clergy of the deanery also met the same day at St. John's in conference, holding their sessions at Branksome Hall, next door, with the rural dean, Rev. T. B. Butler of Elbocope in the chair. Mr. Pugh, who succeeded R. W. Allin as secretary-treasurer of the Toronto synod, was present and spoke briefly, while Prof. B. W. Horan of Wycliffe College, Toronto, gave the address. Next year the two meetings will be held at St. Paul's church, Newmarket.

DOWN THE CENTRE

Farmer Bowntree was in town last week looking the picture of health. It's easier to get him talking about the birds and the bees than it is about hockey. The old maestro of the hockey cushion had his chest puffed out a bit over the softball pitching of "Son" Bowntree, who is tossing them over in a rural league for Emory, once a soccer stronghold, now as currently excited about mushball. Son has won two games in two starts. Daughter Beryl is assisting on the farm and will enter a Toronto hospital to train for a nurse come fall and winter.

Nuggets Shore has forsaken the school textbooks for a rifle and is now in training with the army. A recent benedict, Shore received his call and promptly went on active service. Wherever he is, you can depend on it he will be fondling a softball pill with some army team.

"Fat" James, a member of the 30th battery, is now taking an instructor's course at Ottawa and may or may not go along with Connie Smythe and his boys leave some day for an unknown destination. Eldon wants to go with his buddies but he has the stuff the soldiers need for good instructors.

Grant Gillespie, star centre man for Milton Juniors the past year, has successfully filled older brother Doug's shoes with Etobicoke Indians in lacrosse and has turned in three grand games to date. It was Red who sunk the champion St. Catharines Athletics with a last-minute goal in their first clash of the season.

Hard luck dealt out a hand last week at Dufferin track to George Cosford, Aurora trainer and owner. For the past three years he has been bringing along a promising youngster called Sandow, whose blood-lines and work-outs as a two-year-old indicated he would surprise the boys when he hit the track. Altho' eligible for the King's Plate he wasn't entered and was set to make his maiden debut at Little Saratoga. With apprentice rider Chris Rogers aboard, Sandow was out for a trial when he went berserk for some unknown reason, crashing through the rail and being so seriously injured he had to be destroyed. It was a tough break for the Aurora sportsman. We admire George's patience and the way he has stuck at the racing game despite adversity. One of these days he's bound to click for a big killing.

Jimmy Lynch, the well-known west Toronto sportsman and theatre manager, crossed the Great Divide the other day and his loss leaves a real gap among the finest type of sports backers. Lynch in the fall of 1931 lured Bill Thomas and "Dodge" Collings from the ranks of the Newmarket Redmen and they became integral parts of a west Toronto machine that went through to the final round of the dominion finals. Normy Lamport, now a pro referee, and Bob Gracie were members of the team.

Ernie James, older brother of "Fat" and a former lacrosse star with Bradford and Aurora Juniors, is overseas with the army service corps. Another former Bradford stick wielder overseas is "Baldy" Stoddart of the vintage of 1922-23. Stoddart went overseas with the posties but has been transferred to the 48th Highlanders. Markham high continues to lead southern York softball loop with a long string of wins. Two of the teachers of the school, Mr. Thom and Mr. Bates, are playing with their pupils. Jackie Watson of Markham Juniors is the star hurler.

Orchids to Ralph Wheatley of Vandorf and Alf. Hill of Unionville, who about ten days ago supervised two fine public school meets for the rural pupils of Whitechurch and Markham township. The big district meet held last year at Richmond Hill for four rural townships petered out because of gas rationing but we were glad to see the townships themselves carry on. There is a splendid crop of better trained athletes coming to the district high schools from the rural schools each year. George Bowser of Hartman's Corners and Harry Rawlick of Pine Orchard are two lads who deserve special mention for their performances.

Charlie Sweeney, the former director of athletics at St. Andrew's College and one-time Aurora hockey coach, is now with the navy at Esquimalt, B.C. and will graduate as a lieutenant shortly.

Don Hamilton, who guarded the nets for Aurora Juniors the past season, was in town on Sunday and looks in the pink. He had on his 48th Highlanders uniform, having been on manoeuvres with the reserve unit of the Scotties. Next week he goes to Niagara for his two weeks training. If hockey for Aurora is a possibility, Hamilton will be back next winter and that goes for most of last year's team too. Don has also lined up a bunch of players, including most of his T. H. L. champs, who are anxious to play here. If conditions were right Aurora could lay down its best team in years next winter.

Ronnie Rowe, the Markham flash, and Don are both keeping fit these days by playing soccer with East End juveniles, who have a strong team in the Toronto league. Don is a fullback and Rowe is playing centre-forward.

Scotty Mair, 'ts said, is headed for the army within a few weeks and will do his purchasing other than in St. Catharines next winter. Hughie should do well, as he has both the personality and the brains to go places. He is a mighty sweet softballer too.

Pickering College held its annual sports dinner last week and among the speakers was Tim Daly, trainer of Toronto Leafs in hockey and press agent for the Toronto ball team. Probably no man has a more ready fund of anecdotes than the veteran Daly. He is no polished speaker but pours it out from the heart and, as he admitted himself, judging by the applause the boys went for him in a big way. "Applause? Why they nearly tore the joint down," said Daly.

The Garratt award for the outstanding grad of the year was again split between two members, Don, Dewar and Dan. Sherry Both boys were all-rounders. Des. Partridge, who was outstanding in the high school basketball series this year, was among those receiving first colors. The other two lads both played in this series too.

"Rusty" White, the former Richmond Hill boy who was a three-star performer at lacrosse, baseball and hockey in those parts, has returned to the national game for his 11th consecutive season. Most of his lacrosse has been spent with Fergus seniors. This year he is with Owen Sound Georgians. Always a top scorer in the O.A.A., he got off to a fine start as he banged home one counter and got three assists against the Mimico-Brampton team. Like Old Man River, the mighty Rusty "just keeps rolling along."

Meanwhile brother Al. White, in his day a fair all-round athlete, tho' not as prominent as his older brother, is fast winning recognition as one of North York's best lawn bowlers. He is a member of the Newmarket club and last week, teamed with Charlie Willis, took the doubles honors at the Aurora tournament.

Mount Albert sports days will be held this Saturday and a splendid softball program is being arranged. It is the 18th consecutive year it has been held. It was originally scheduled for June 6 but the rains made the grounds bad and it was postponed. Sgt. Howard Morton, former Mount Albert boy and district sports promoter, came up from Ottawa for the event. Howard is now staff-sergeant with the R.C.C.S.

EVERTSLEY JUNIOR RED CROSS GIVES ENTERTAINMENT

Mrs. Ransom Williams of Uxbridge called on friends in King last Wednesday. She reports that Tommy Williams, son of Rev. T. Lewes Williams, a small boy when he lived in King City, is now on active service and is home on leave from Nova Scotia. Military life agrees with him and he weighs 190 lbs.

Mr. Ernest Congers Barker spent the weekend at Scots Wha Hae, the guest of Miss Alice Ferguson. He is a young artist, who is now doing war work in wood, making small disks and other forms required for the packing of bombs.

The big event for Evertsley school on Friday was the Junior Red Cross Utri club finish-up party for the year.

The tables of home-baking, small articles, a yard of garden ornaments and a fish pond held the attention of the people until they were called in for the program. Miss McClure, the popular teacher, while on hand to welcome and to supervise, left the work in the capable hands of the pupils. George Mesley was chairman and knew all the neat little stunts that go with that office. After singing a group of patriotic songs, Miss M. E. Bartlett, Ontario superintendent for the Junior Red Cross told her story of the fine work the children throughout the schools in the province are doing.

Connie Ladlaw, a young but capable entertainer, impersonated several movie stars. She sang songs and with her puppet gave a delightful exhibition of ventriloquism. Nancy Hall sang a solo.

Walter Rolling, veteran teacher, gave a talk and the grand old lady, Miss Elizabeth Tinline, was present and made a short speech in her good strong voice, wonderful in a lady nearing her 85th year.

A committee was formed to secure the War Charities Act permit for the Institute. They will apply for a short course on the re-modelling of clothes. Mrs. G. W. E. Macpherson and Mrs. R. V. Wilson gave fine reports of the district annual meeting.

MT. ALBERT GIRL HAS JUNE WEDDING

A pretty wedding took place at Mount Albert in the "chapel" on Saturday afternoon, when Mildred Elizabeth Calver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Calver, Mount Albert, was united in marriage with L.A.C. Reginald Geo. Boorman, R.C.A.F., son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Boorman of Swansea.

The chapel was beautifully decorated with pink peonies, iris and orange blossoms, and Rev. R. V. Wilson officiated at the ceremony. Noel Calver, R.C.A.F., and Frank Calver, R.C.A.C., were ushers. The bride's mother presided at the organ.

The bride, who was given away by her father, looked charming in a queen's blue ensemble with matching shoulder-length veil and coronet of pink roses, and carried a bouquet of roses and other flowers. Her sister, Dorothy, attended her as bridesmaid, in a rose sheer dress with blue tulip halo headress. She carried a bouquet of mixed flowers. Mr. William Boorman was groomsman.

After the wedding a reception was held at the "Old Mill" where the bride and groom received the guests assisted by the bride's mother, wearing a navy and white ensemble, and the groom's mother, in Alice blue sheer, with black accessories. Each wore a corsage of pyrethrum.

POLICE COURT FINED $50 FOR 65 M.P.H. ON YONGE ST.

"You say that you taught school 14 years, if anyone should know, you should, that your children should go to school," Magistrate W. E. McIlveen reprimanded Mrs. Sarah Milne, Queenville, in Newmarket police court on Tuesday.

Mrs. Milne pleaded guilty to charges of violating the School Attendance Act by neglecting to send her younger son, a child under 14 years of age, to school and of violating the Adolescent School Attendance Act by neglecting to send her older son, under 16 years of age, to school.

Her husband, Arthur Milne, who was charged jointly with her, pleaded not guilty to each charge, and stated that his wife had charge of the children. He admitted that he had been a public school trustee.

His worship placed both parents on their own bond of $50 each for the term of one year and warned them that they must send the boys to school. Costs amounted to $11.50.

"We are going to see that the children get a chance," stated his worship.

Mrs. Frank Ross, Queensville, public school teacher, said that the younger Milne boy (Donald) during the fall of 1941 had attended school 14 days.

"In the fall we had no hired man and I thought the boys should help their father on the farm," stated Mrs. Milne, when questioned by N. L. Matthews, K.C., clerk and solicitor. She stated that when they went back to school they caught whooping-cough and chickenpox.

"They wouldn't have the whooping-cough all that time," commented the crown.

"A boy under 14 years and he was only 14 days at school, you should be ashamed of yourself," admonished his worship.

I thought they should help with the farm," stated Mrs. Milne.

Giving evidence in the charge under the Adolescent School Attendance Act, Miss Joy McKinnon, Newmarket, principal of the Queensville public school, testified that the older Milne boy (Jack), who was 14 years of age, had not attended school at all last fall and so far this year had attended only since the Tuesday afternoon before last. She stated that the average age for class six was 11 years.

Constable Joseph Jardine testified that he had contacted Mr. Milne about the older boy and found that the latter had been helping his father on the farm for part of the time and part of the time was working out on other farms.

"You had an education, your boys should have an education also," the crown told the defendant. "You are certainly not fair to your children."

Forty-four cases of exceeding the speed limit were heard in Newmarket police court on Tuesday, the largest number since the new war time regulations came into force. Of that number one case was dismissed and six adjourned until next week.

The heaviest fine imposed in the Newmarket police court since the war-time regulations came into being was given to Fred J. Knott, Toronto, whom Magistrate W. E. McIlveen fined $50 and costs for travelling at 65 miles an hour on Yonge St. highway. Fines of $25 and costs were imposed on Albert Ferris, Camp Borden (55 m.p.h.), and Fred R. Batters, Cookstown (60 m.p.h.). Fines of $15 and costs were imposed on the following: Carl Rusto and Lorne H. Duncan, both of Newmarket; Gerry Killeen, Timmins, and William Wilson, Toronto. Provincial Constable Alex Ferguson clocked these drivers on Yonge St.

Constable Fisher Dunham timed the following drivers exceeding the speed limit in Aurora. Each was fined $15 and costs: J. T. Symons, Famous Players Can. Corp.; George Schutte, Bert Wilder, Mrs. Marie Bruden, and Donald Southerland, all of Toronto, and Earl Mills, Bracebridge, W. L. Dymett, Barrie, Clyde Aircraft Co., Collingwood, Gordon Patton, King, P. A. Thoron, Little Norway, Toronto, and John Jamola, Whitchurch.

Motorists exceeding the speed limit in Newmarket were Alco Reeves, Toronto, fined $10 and costs, Dr. R. I. Harris, Forest Hill, and Norman K. Graham, Toronto, each fined $9 and costs, H. J. Helm Co., Toronto, F. H. Fife, Sharon, and Dalton Richardson, Aurora, each fined $7 and costs. Ella Kozman, Albert Yates and Ernest C. Ford, all of Toronto, each fined $6 and costs, and Stratford Transport, Toronto, fined $5 and costs.

Five speed violators were fined by Constable George Foster in North Gwillimbury and each was fined $15 and costs. They were Lawrence Murdoch, Eugene Cherrier, Sam Wiley, David Holmes, all of Toronto, and L. H. May, Peterborough.

The dance held last Friday evening at the Riveredge pavilion was a splendid success. The Red Cross branch were grateful to the management for the use of their pavilion. Forty-five dollars was raised.

Residents are reminded of the salvage collection on Saturday, June 27. Those having articles too large to manage themselves are asked to get in touch with the school teacher of the section, who will make sure that a truck calls.

The committee asks that residents have newspapers and magazines neatly tied in bundles and have old rubber, rags and aluminum ready.

HARRY BABB DIES, WAS FORMER COUNCILLOR

Harry T. Babb, proprietor of Hollywood Lodge, Island Grove, died in a Toronto hospital on Tuesday.

A member of North Gwillimbury township council in 1939, he took a keen interest in township affairs and was known to many of the residents as "Uncle Harry." Mr. Babb was a retired jeweller. He is survived by his wife, May Cook. The funeral service was held this afternoon in Toronto.
